Wildlife

Contributed By Rosie

In wildlife I like the videos we watch. I really like the one about Toucans because I like their colors, they can be taught to build towers out of things (like tin cans) using their beaks. I also like them because they eat bamboo. They can be in people's houses as pets. Some of my other favorite classes in wildlife were the ones about gila monsters, red pandas, and many more. Some of the things I learned about the gila monsters are that they weigh a lot and I'm not sure what they eat, but I think it was insects. Also, small rodents. They can cause you infection if they bite you and it will go through your system, people can die from that if they don't get treated for it. They make such a loud noise from their mouths that you can hear them coming from miles away. Our classes also do quizzes sometimes about animals that we've learned about. Sometimes it's true/false questions and other times it's multiple choice. I learn a lot from the class and I'm glad that I chose to take this class. I really like animals.

MUSIC

by Jonathan W

Well, music is something that's always fascinated me. I have always seen music as an alternate language, or another way of making a point. It's a lot the same way I've thought of art. If you have something to say there are many ways to say it, besides speaking.

You find something that strikes you. I like to find a way that communicates the same thing, yet touches the recipient with the deepest impact. This might happen through song. Singing is way to make a statement in very personal manner, that communicates emotion through the level of pitches. When you hear a song, you're given a clue about how the composer felt about a particular subject.

Same thing happens through art. While the way something sounds may touch the hearer a certain way, art always finds a way of 'sneaking in through the back door,' so to speak.

D-Day Observances

Contributed by Victor

D-Day occurred during World War II on June 6, 1944. It was an invasion of the Allies. The Nazi's were holding the beaches of France and the Allies stormed them. There were more than 160,000 troops that landed on the beaches. There were more than 5,000 ships and more than 13,000 aircraft that helped. The allies were able to stay on the beaches and fight their way inland. The cost of the day in lives was high, more than 9,000 soldiers were either killed or wounded. This started the fight across Europe to beat Germany. We have a D-Day observance to show respect for our country and for the people that lost their lives and also for those who fought and came home. Some of the ways we can show respect that day is to fly our American flags. Visit the grave sites of those who fought. We can have a picnic and talk about and remember family members that fought in WWII. Say thank you to a serviceman who is serving our country now or one that has served in the past. It's important that we don't forget so that we make sure that a war like that doesn't happen again.

PAINTING CLASS

contributed By Mary Jane

Typed By Jonathan F.

I Like Painting Class because I can paint pictures that will remind me of Arizona. I really enjoy painting picture of Arizona because I get to remember the time I went out there for vacation. I really enjoy my teachers in painting class. Beth & Amparo do so well

In painting class there so many pictures I get to see. Painting is such a good way to show feelings & emotions, sometimes it's a good way to show them through paintings can go to art galleries. I like and enjoy going to see paintings and art in the galleries. I get to see all creative art and panting there is all over the world there so many people out there that is very talented in the world.

FATHER'S DAY

Contributed by Trista

Father's Day is a day to honor fathers and let them know how great they are. If you like to give gifts, Father's Day will be the best time to do that. You can give them cards, breakfast in bed, and do some of their chores. Another way that will be nice and special can be taking them out to eat dinner. Even though there's one day you celebrate Father's Day, but I think that we all should honor our fathers every day, not just one day. I think that they should have a Grandfather's Day too, because they need to be celebrated, they are as much as important like their sons.

Every Father's Day I like to celebrate by getting a balloon and releasing it in the air for my dad, so I can remember him. Father's Day is such a good day to remember all the bond and love we have for each other. It brings up memories we share all the time and help to keep on appreciating our fathers.

ACTING CLASS

Contributed by Trista

Acting Class is so much fun. In my high school they did not offer Acting. And I wanted to expand my horizons. So I decided to join the Acting Class. I enjoy the chance to be someone else for a couple of minutes. It is nice to be in someone else's shoes for a while. You can really let your emotions out. And you feel like you are the character, as well. I would like to be in a show here at Adult Enrichment. I would like to act out Little Red Riding Hood and Little Boy Blue. I would like to see the play, 'CATS' done too.

MUSICAL BRAIN BUSTERS

Contributed by Mike V.

In Musical Brain Busters, everyone everyone picks a music group or singer. Beth is the teacher. For each class, she plays a selection of music and we guess who the artist is. Then we take a quiz about the musician that is featured for that class. When it was my turn to choose, I chose the Wiggles. It was fun. There is Greg, Murray, Anthony and Jeff. Dorothy is a dinosaur. Henry is an octopus. The Wiggles sing many different children's songs. When they performed in New York one time, I got to see them. My parents took me. It was really good. I had a great time.

Contributed by Leroy

Recently in classic viewing, we viewed Nancy Drew and the Mystery of the Whispering Walls. Also, recently we viewed ET the extra-terrestrial. Also viewed Welcome Back Kotter, Mash, Growing Pains, and Gilligan's Island. I really like the old, classic television shows. Other shows like Full House, the Honeymooners, I Love Lucy, etc. Others such as; Family Matters with the character Steve Urkel, he's very funny, when he says "Did I do that?" Also, Charles in Charge, about a college kid who is hired to watch three kids. In Classic Viewing, the Munster's was played, about monsters living in a human society.

Book Club

Contributed by Robert C

In book club we are reading "Where is the Mango Princess". It's a book about a guy that was in a boat accident and he had to be flown to a hospital. He had a traumatic brain injury. It's getting serious now. The story is told by his wife. They're from Philadelphia but were vacationing in Canada when the accident happened. When they wanted to return to the US after he was in the hospital for 10 days, it was very hard. They wanted to fly but the insurance company denied it and wanted him to be driven in an ambulance. They were finally given permission to fly, but they had the jalopy of airplanes. It wasn't even a medical airplane. His wife was very upset. She isn't very happy with the way that her husband was treated through all of this trip home. I think he may remain unresponsive and not able to answer the questions they ask him. Before his accident he was a lawyer, he won't be able to go back to practicing law. This accident changed his entire life and his families. It isn't a change for the better. I like this book because it's a good story and the wife tells it well.

Contributed by Angie

In Book Club, Beth is our teacher. We are reading a true story called, Where is the Mango Princess? It is interesting. It is about a family who was on vacation in Canada. They were boating when someone wrecked into their boat. The dad, who was a lawyer, was injured. He had a brain injury. He was in the hospital many weeks. We read more each week. It is interesting to hear a true story about someone else's life. I want to know how it will end. We read some more of the story each week. In the future, I hope we read Cinderella, sometime.

June 18th is International Picnic Day

Contributed by Derek

Life is no picnic – except on International Picnic Day. This day provides a chance to eat out in the open air with friends or family.

The word “picnic” comes from the French language, and it’s believed this type of informal outdoor meal became a popular pastime in France after the Revolution. As fans of Jane Austen’s novels will know, 19th-century picnics were elaborate social occasions, with menus featuring a wide range of cold meats and pies that took days to prepare.

International Picnic Day is celebrated in many countries, though its origins are uncertain. Charity events, school picnics and all kinds of other group meals are organized to mark the occasion. You could also bike, walk or hike to a nearby beauty spot, or just take your sandwiches and cold hard-boiled eggs
